¹ Yields at NAV and market price are calculated by dividing the annualized distribution rate (based on the each fund's June 2009 distribution) by the NAV or market price, respectively, as of June 9, 2009.

* Please note that the distributions paid by a fund to shareholders are subject to recharacterization for tax purposes. The final tax treatment of these distributions is reported to shareholders on their 1099-DIV forms, which are mailed to shareholders after the close of each fiscal year. In addition, a fund may pay distributions in excess of its net investment income, and this excess may be a tax-free return of capital distributed from the fund's assets. Distributions of capital decrease a fund's total assets and, therefore, could have the effect of increasing the fund's expense ratio. In addition, in order to make these distributions, a fund may have to sell portfolio securities during unfavorable market conditions. Information concerning the estimated composition of each fund distribution will be available at cohenandsteers.com.
